About Me

I'm an expert multimedia journalist with experience leading digitally focused teams, audio and video production teams, content strategy, newsletter projects, and local newsrooms. I'm seeking an editorial role that takes advantage of my journalism skills as a writer, editor, and digital leader.

Experience

Zuri Media & Consulting 2020 - present

Owner & Principal Producer

I founded an audio production and podcast development company that provides clients with contract audio editing and production services, consultation on new and expanding podcast productions, and branding, marketing, and digital strategy solutions.

NPR member stations 2018 - 2021

Managing Editor & Senior Managing Editor

I oversaw the daily newsroom operations for two NPR member stations, edited and produced stories for broadcast and online, oversaw special projects and coverage, and was the project lead on daily newsletters and digital strategy. I was responsible for the increase in direct and organic traffic (69%), as well as social acquisitions (34%).

The Boston Herald 2015-2018

Deputy Managing Editor for News & Multimedia

I oversaw and produced content for Boston Herald Radio as a host, served as editor for the Herald's video efforts during a 241% increase in plays, contributed to the newspaper's day-to-day news editing, and provided strategic oversight for the Herald's social media, partnerships, and internships. I was directly responsible for the Herald's 83% increase in Facebook page followers, 55% increase in Twitter followers, and 2,419% increase in Instagram followers.

WFXT 2014-2015

Manager of Web Content

I served as the editor for myfoxboston.com, the website for the Boston Fox affiliate, and managed a staff of four people responsible for posting online content, including articles, videos, app alerts, graphics, and social media. My team was responsible for increasing total page views on all platforms 43% and video plays 141%.

The Boston Globe / Boston.com 2009-2014

Content Producer

I was responsible for website coverage of the New England Patriots, the New England Revolution, and high school sports, while contributing news and game coverage to the Boston Bruins, Boston Celtics, and Boston Red Sox. I served as a writer, editor and video producer for each sports vertical and publicized the site's content through social media channels including Facebook and Twitter.

The Union 2007-2009

Staff Writer & Online Community Manager

I oversaw the creation and development of the newspaper's social media platforms, including the launch of its Twitter account. I covered general assignment news and high school sports, wrote an award-winning weekly sports column, edited video, served as the face of the newspaper's online community as a moderator, and spearheaded offline events for The Union's readers.
